

Trend Indicates Sixth Greatest Year in Manufacturing Growth

There were 14 new factories worth $395,000 started in Los Angeles during June and an expansion of 30 others valued at $5,954,000, according to Frank N. Rush, chairman of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce industrial committee.

Continuation of the 1948 industrial development at its $43,766,500 pace as measured in the first six months would make this the sixth greatest year of manufacturing growth in the county's history, Rush reported.

June found the creation of 596 permanent new jobs in manufacturing in the county with mid-year totals of industrial investments standing at $9,151,000, and 91 new plants and $34,655,500 spent for expansion in 176 plants.

Rush reports the outlook bright for steady gains in industrial activities and the creation of hundreds of new jobs.

Investments since V-J day have totaled nearly $400,000,000 and created more than 73,195 jobs in this area, Rush reported. If the present 1948 pace continued, the year's total should be about $87,000,000, Rush estimates.
